VALUATION APPROACH & METHODOLOGY

Basis and Premise of Valuation:

Valuation of the equity shares of the Companies as on the Valuation Date is carried out in accordance with ICAI Valuation Standards ('ICAI VS'), considering 'relative value' base and 'going concern' premise. Valuation base means the indication of the type of value being used in an engagement. Any change in the Valuation base, or the Valuation premise could have a significant impact on the Valuation outcome of the Companies.

Basis of Valuation

It means the indication of the type of value being used in an engagement. Fair Value as per ICAI VS is defined as under:

'Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the valuation date.'

Premise of Value:

Premise of Value refers to the conditions and circumstances how an asset is deployed. Valuation of the Companies is carried out on a Going Concern Value premise which is defined under ICAI VS as under:

'Going concern value is the value of a business enterprise that is expected to continue to operate in the future. The intangible elements of going concern value result from factors such as having a trained work force, an operational plant, the necessary licenses, systems, and procedures in place, etc.'

It is pertinent to note that the valuation of any business/company or its assets is inherently imprecise and is subject to various uncertainties and contingencies, all of which are difficult to predict and are beyond our control. In performing our analysis, we made numerous assumptions considering inter-alia general business and economic conditions, many of which are beyond the control of the company. In addition, this valuation will fluctuate with changes in prevailing market conditions, and prospects, financial and otherwise, of the business, and other factors which generally influence the valuation of the company, its business and assets.

The application of any particular method of valuation depends on the purpose for which the valuation is done. Although, different values may exist for different purpose, it cannot be too strongly emphasized that a valuer can only arrive at one value for one purpose. Our choice of methodology of valuation has been arrived at using usual and conventional methodologies adopted for transactions of similar nature and our reasonable judgment, in an independent and bona fide manner based on our previous experience of assignments of a similar nature.

Commonly accepted approach/ methods for determining the value of the equity shares of a company/ business, include:

- Market Approach
 - a. Market Price method
 - b. Comparable Companies Market Multiple method
- Income Approach – Discounted Cash Flow method
- Asset Approach – Net Asset Value Method

For the Proposed Amalgamation, we have considered the following commonly used and accepted methods for determining the value of the equity shares of the Companies for the purpose of recommending the fair share exchange ratios, to the extent relevant and applicable:

Market Approach

Market approach is a valuation approach that uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable (i.e., similar) assets, liabilities or a group of assets and liabilities, such as a business.

Market Price Method

Under this method, the value of shares of a company is determined by taking the average of the market capitalization of the equity shares of such companies as quoted on a recognized stock exchange over reasonable periods of time where such quotations are arising from the shares being regularly and freely traded in an active market, subject to the element of speculative support that may be inbuilt in the market price.

In the present case, equity shares of EKL are widely held, regularly and frequently traded with reasonable volumes on NSE and BSE respectively. The market value of the shares arising from regular trading reflects the investors perception of about the true worth of the listed companies. Hence, we have adopted the market price method for valuation of EKL.

The equity shares of the EKI and KAI are not listed on any stock exchange and we have therefore not considered this method to arrive at the equity value of the EKI and KAI.

Since in the subject case equity shares of a listed company would be issued to the equity shareholders of an unlisted company, the minimum price at which shares are to be issued is prescribed under Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulation, 2018 issued vide notification No. SEBI/LAD-NRO/GN/2018/31 dated 11 September 2018 and as amended from time to time ("SEBI ICDR Regulations"), is as under:

"Regulation 164: If the equity shares of the issuer have been listed on a recognised stock exchange for a period of 90 trading days or more as on the relevant date, the price of the equity shares to be allotted pursuant to the preferential issue shall be not less than higher of the following:

- a. the 90 trading days volume weighted average price of the related equity shares quoted on the recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date; or
- b. the 10 trading days volume weighted average price of the related equity shares quoted on the recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date.

Pursuant to the SEBI Circular CFD/DIL3/CIR/2017/26 dated March 23, 2017, "the 'Relevant Date' for the purpose of computing pricing shall be the date of Board meeting in which the scheme is approved". Considering inter-alia the aforesaid, the prices up to day prior to the Relevant Date i.e. price up to 14 September 2022 are considered for computing the price of the equity shares of EKL.

Comparable Companies Multiple (CCM) Method

Under this method, the value of the shares / business of a company is estimated by applying the derived market multiple based on market quotations of comparable public / listed companies, in an active market, possessing attributes similar to the business of such company - to the relevant financial parameter of the company / business (based on past and / or projected working results) after making adjustments to the derived multiples on account of dissimilarities with the comparable companies and the strengths, weaknesses and other factors peculiar to the company being valued. These valuations are based on the principle that such market valuations, taking place between informed buyers and informed sellers, incorporate all factors relevant to valuation. Relevant multiples need to be chosen carefully and adjusted for differences between the circumstances.

Based on our analysis and discussion with the Management, we understand that there are comparable listed companies which operate in a similar line of business and having similar financial/ operating metrics as that of EKL, we have therefore used CCM Method to value the equity shares of EKL.

Further, considering inter-alia the commencement date of operations, capacity utilization, planned expansion in production of small tractors, historical business operating performance of EKL and basis discussion with the Management, the current performance of EKL is not considered to be representative of its expected future performance. Accordingly, CCM method has not been adopted for valuation of EKL.

KAL is engaged in the business of trading of agri-machines and exports of products, procured from domestic market. Basis discussion with the Management and our analysis, there are no listed companies that can be considered as a company comparable having regard to the size and business profile, we have therefore not used CCM Method to value the equity shares of KAL.

Comparable Transaction Multiple (CTM) Method

Under Comparable Transaction Method, the value of shares/ business of a company is determined based on market multiples of publicly disclosed transactions in the similar space as that of the subject company. Multiples are generally based on data from recent transactions in a comparable sector, but with appropriate adjustment after consideration has been given to the specific characteristics of the business being valued.

Based on our analysis and discussion with the Management, we understand that there are no recent comparable transactions, data of which is available in public domain, involving companies of similar nature and having a similar operating/ financial metrics as that of the Companies, we have therefore not used CTM method to value the equity shares of the Transacting Companies.

Income Approach - Discounted Cash Flow ('DCF')

Income approach is a valuation approach that converts maintainable or future amounts (e.g., cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (i.e., discounted or capitalized) amount.

Under the DCF method the projected free cash flows to the firm are discounted at the weighted average cost of capital. This method is used to determine the present value of a business on a going concern assumption and recognizes the time value of money by discounting the free cash flows for the explicit forecast period and the perpetuity value at an appropriate discount factor. The terminal value represents the total value of the available cash flow for all periods subsequent to the horizon period. The terminal value of the business at the end of the horizon period is estimated, discounted to its present value equivalent, and added to the present value of the available cash flow to estimate the value of the business.

Such DCF analysis involves determining the following:

- Estimating future free cash flows: Free cash flows are the cash flows expected to be generated by the company/ asset that are available to the providers of the company's capital - both debt and equity.
- Appropriate discount rate to be applied to cash flows i.e., the cost of capital: This discount rate, which is applied to the free cash flows, should reflect the opportunity cost to all the capital providers (namely shareholders and creditors), weighted by their relative contribution to the total capital of the company. The opportunity cost to the capital provider equals the rate of return the capital provider expects to earn on other investments of equivalent risk.

Under the DCF method the projected free cash flows to the firm for the horizon period are discounted at the weighted average cost of capital. Terminal value of the business at the end of the horizon period is estimated based on an appropriate perpetual growth rate considering inter-alia long-term inflation and other business-related factors. The sum of the discounted value of such free cash flows for the horizon period and terminal value is the enterprise value. Adjustments for debt and debt-like items, cash and cash equivalents, post balance sheet events and contingent liability (if any) adjusted for probability of devolvement is considered to determine the equity value.

EKL being a listed company, the information related to future financial projections of EKL are price sensitive in nature. Considering inter-alia, we were not provided with the financial projections of EKL by the Management. Hence, we have not used DCF method to determine the value of the equity shares of EKL.

The Management of EKI and KAI have provided the Management Projections for EKI and KAI respectively, which the Management believes to be their best estimates as to the future operating performance of the respective Amalgamating Companies. Considering the aforementioned, DCF method has been adopted for valuation exercise of EKI and KAI.

Asset Approach

The asset-based valuation technique is based on the value of the underlying net assets of the business, either on a book value basis or realizable value basis or replacement cost basis. This methodology is likely to be appropriate for business which derives value mainly from the underlying value of its assets rather than its earnings. This value analysis approach may also be used in case where the firm is to be liquidated or in case where the assets base dominates earning capability. It is also used where the main strength of the business is its asset backing rather than its capacity or potential to earn profits.

The relative valuation of the Companies is carried out on an 'going concern' premise. The historical net asset value of the business may not be representative of their earning potential. Further, self-generated key intangibles such as technology, customer relationship, brand/ trademark, distribution network may not be reflected in their historical net asset value. Accordingly, Asset Approach has not been adopted for the valuation of the Companies.

RECOMMENDATION OF FAIR SHARE EXCHANGE RATIOS FOR THE PROPOSED AMALGAMATION

The basis of Proposed Amalgamation of EKI and KAI with EKL would have to be determined after taking into consideration all the factors and methodologies mentioned hereinabove. Though different values have been arrived at under each of the above methodologies, for the purposes of recommending fair share exchange ratios, it is necessary to arrive at a single value for the Companies. It is however important to note that in doing so we are not attempting to arrive at the absolute values but at their relative values to facilitate the determination of fair share exchange ratios. For this purpose, it is necessary to give appropriate weights to the values arrived at under each methodology.

The fair share exchange ratio has been arrived at on the basis of a relative (and not absolute) equity value of the Amalgamating Companies and Amalgamated Company for the proposed scheme of amalgamation based on the various approaches/ methods explained herein earlier and various qualitative factors relevant to each company and the business dynamics and growth potential of the businesses, having regard to information base, key underlying assumptions, and limitations. Suitable rounding off have been carried out wherever necessary to arrive at the recommended fair share exchange ratios.

Refer Annexure 1 for value per share of the Companies under different methods prescribed and the fair share exchange ratio for Proposed Amalgamation of EKI and KAI with EKL.

In light of the above and on a consideration of all the relevant factors and circumstances as discussed and outlined herein above including scope, limitations and assumptions described in this report and the engagement letter, we recommend the fair share exchange ratios for proposed amalgamation of EKI and KAI with EKL on a 'going concern' basis as at Valuation Date is as follows:

1) To the equity shareholders of EKI

5 (Five) equity shares of EKL having face value of INR 10 each fully paid up shall be issued for every 129 (One Hundred Twenty-Nine) equity shares held in EKI having face value of INR 100 each fully paid up.

2) To the equity shareholders of KAI

5 (Five) equity shares of EKL having face value of INR 10 each fully paid up shall be issued for every 220 (Two Hundred Twenty) equity shares held in KAI having face value of INR 10 each fully paid up.

Respectfully submitted,

NA: Not Adopted/Applicable

Notes:

1) Market Approach – Market Price Method

The equity shares of EKI and KAI are not listed on any stock exchange, hence we have not used this method to determine the fair value of equity shares of EKI and KAI.

Market Approach – CCM Method

Considering inter-alia comparable listed companies which operate in a similar line of business as that of EKL, we have considered CCM Method to arrive at the equity value of EKL. However, considering that unlisted company is proposed to be amalgamated with EKL, the price as per market price method pursuant to SEBI Guidelines is considered to be the minimum price and the value of EKL as per CCM method is not accorded any weightage.

Considering the commencement date of operations, capacity utilization, planned expansion in production of small tractors, historical business operating performance of EKI and basis discussion with the Management the current performance of EKI is not considered to be representative of its expected future performance. Accordingly, CCM method has not been adopted for valuation of EKI.

KAI is engaged in the business of trading of agri-machines and exports of products, procured from domestic market. Basis discussion with the Management and our analysis, there are no listed companies that can be considered similar as a company comparable having regard to the size and business profile, we have therefore not considered CCM Method for valuation of KAI.

2) Income Approach - Discounted Cash Flow Method

EKL being a listed company and since the information related to future financial projections of the company are price sensitive in nature, we were not provided with the financial projections of EKL by the Management. We have therefore not used DCF method to determine the value of the equity shares of EKL.

3) Asset Approach - NAV Method

The Companies, presently operate as a going concern and would continue to do so for the foreseeable future and NAV Method does not value the future profit generating ability of the business, we have therefore not used this method to value the equity shares of the Companies.
